Anastasia Sakellariou steps down from the position of Chief Transformation Officer and member of the Executive Committee of Alpha Bank

During her four-year tenure, she played a pivotal role in driving the Bank's transformation, leading and successfully completing more than 100 projects

Following the completion of Alpha Bank's core transformation journey, Anastasia Sakellariou has announced her decision to step down from the position of Chief Transformation Officer and member of the Executive Committee of the Bank, effective from the 1st of February, 2024.

Ms. Sakellariou will retain an advisory role on transformation matters to ensure continuity and guidance to the bank's relevant teams. She will also continue to serve on the Boards of Alpha Bank Romania and Alpha Bank Cyprus.

During her four-year tenure at Alpha Bank, Ms. Sakellariou has played a pivotal role in driving the Bank's transformation, leading and successfully completing more than 100 projects that have significantly improved the organisation's operational efficiency and digital capabilities, as well as contributing to the adoption of a modern and customer-centric model of banking operations and service delivery.

Speaking on the occasion, Vassilis Psaltis, CEO of Alpha Bank, said: "We are grateful for Anastasia's dedication and support during her tenure at Alpha Bank. Her strategic insights and transformational initiatives have positioned us as a forward-looking institution, well equipped to meet the challenges and opportunities of the new banking era. I would like to wish her all the best in her new endeavours."
